

There are lots of different types of butterflies in Britain fluttering around and it's fun to spot the different kinds that we see in our gardens or when we go out on our walks!

Below are some images of the beautiful butterflies we often see in the gardens at the museum. Can you be a butterfly detective and spot them when you're out and about or in your garden?

Number of times spotted:

Number of times spotted:

Number of times spotted:

Number of times spotted:

Number of times spotted:

Number of times spotted:

You can use this space to document where you saw your butterflies or even draw the ones that you have spotted. We'd love to see them on our social media if you do!

Blank space for documenting butterfly sightings or drawings.